Paul Jagger is a Freeman of the City of London, Court Liveryman of The Worshipful Company of Information Technologists and author of The City of London Freeman's Guide - the definitive concise guide to the City of London's customs, ceremonies, officers, institutions and traditions. He is a business voter in the Ward of Farringdon Within. He formerly served with 101 (City of London) Engineer Regiment (EOD) - one of the City's privileged regiments.

In April 2016 Paul received the City Livery Club's prestigious Root and Branch Award for his work in promoting awareness and understanding of the City of London and its Livery Companies, particularly their beneficial impact on wider society. The award was presented by The Right Honourable The Lord Mayor of London, Alderman Lord Mountevans.

Paul is a member of Cambridge University Heraldic & Genealogical Society, The White Lion Society (supporting The College of Arms), The Heraldry Society (England and Wales) and a life member of London Historians and the Farringdon Ward Club.

Paul is an accomplished public speaker on a wide range of topics connected with the City's sui generis system of government, the Livery Companies, heraldry, City customs and ceremonies. He is also much in demand as an entertaining public speaker within the City.

In his professional life Paul leads a consulting team for IBM in the field of workplace learning and development. He is a Chartered IT Professional, a Fellow of BCS The Chartered Institute for IT, an external consultant for City & Guilds, the Open University and a visiting lecturer at City University (London).

Paul lives in Hertfordshire with his wife and two young children.
